

Flights

Iceland is only a 3 hours flight from cities in Europe such as London, Copenhagen, Stockholm, Oslo, Amsterdam and Paris.

There are now many choices available for travelling by air to Iceland. During 2011 two Icelandic airlines will offer regularly scheduled flights from multiple cities in Europe and America. We highly recommend making reservations as early as possible, since Reykjavik is a very popular tourist destination during the summer months and the less expensive tickets are booked up fairly quickly.

Icelandair

The main airline in Iceland, Icelandair, offers many direct flights to Reykjavik from multiple cities both in Europe and in America. For online booking and all further information please see www.icelandair.com

Iceland Express

A recent budget airline, Iceland Express now offers flights from upto 20 different cities in Europe as well as New York. For booking and all further information please see www.icelandexpress.com

Scandinavian airlines – please see www.scandinavian.net

Airport transportation

Iceland's international airport is at Keflavik, a 40-45 minutes drive from Reykjavik.

For Keflavik airport information please see www.airport.is

Arrivals

A FLYBUS operates all day from Keflavik Airport to Reykjavik in connection with all incoming international flights. Tickets can be bought inside the terminal building at the Flybus booth or in a ticket automat located by the exit door of the terminal building. Tickets are not sold on board the bus.

The Flybus brings passengers to the Flybus terminal at the BSÍ Bus Station in Reykjavik (marked on map – see Accommodation) near the center of town. At the terminal passengers with Flybus Plus tickets board smaller buses which take them to selected hotels and guesthouses in Reykjavík. List of hotels and guesthouses with drop-off/pick-up service available can be found here:

www.re.is/Flybus/Pickup.

Kindly note that not all hotels and guesthouses are provided with shuttle service from the BSÍ Bus station, but taxis are available outside the terminal

Departures

The Flybus operates all day in connection with all outgoing flights. Scheduled departures are from the BSÍ Bus Station in Reykjavík. Pick-up service is available from selected hotels and guesthouses in Reykjavík for passengers holding Flybus Plus tickets (www.re.is/Flybus/Pickup). The day before departure, passengers need to inform the reception desk staff of their hotel/guesthouse that they want the Flybus to pick them up the following day.

Flybus fare: ISK 1.950 pr. person one way.

Flybus Plus fare: ISK 2.500 pr. person one way.

Children 0-11 yrs. are free of charge. Children 12-15 yrs. pay half price.

All further Flybus information under www.re.is/flybus

Taxi service between Keflavik and Reykjavík is also available, the fare is approx. Isk 12.000 during daytime hours.